

Exodus 24:17

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And the sight of the glory of the LORD was like devouring fire on the top of the mount in the eyes of the children of Israel.

Analysis

And the sight of the glory of the LORD was like devouring fire on the top of the mount in the eyes of the children of Israel.

From below, God's glory looks like 'devouring fire' (אֵשׁ אֶכְלָת, esh okhelet)—consuming, terrifying. 'On the top' (בֶּרֶאשׁ, berosh) the mountain, visible to all below. The people see what Moses enters—fire that would consume them kills him not. This demonstrates his unique calling—mediator survives what would destroy others. The fire imagery recurs: burning bush (Exodus 3), pillar of fire (Exodus 13), God descending in fire (19:18), Shekinah fire in tabernacle/temple. Hebrews 12:29 declares 'our God is consuming fire'—He is dangerously holy. Approaching requires mediation (Moses, then Christ).

Historical Context

Fire is the dominant theophanic element at Sinai—God manifests as fire, smoke, lightning. Ancient Near Eastern gods were often associated with storm and fire, but YHWH is not a fire-god; He manifests via fire to communicate holiness.

Study Questions

1. What does God's manifestation as 'devouring fire' teach about His holiness?
2. How does Moses entering the consuming fire prefigure Christ enduring God's wrath for us?
