

Exodus 26:10

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And thou shalt make fifty loops on the edge of the one curtain that is outmost in the coupling, and fifty loops in the edge of the curtain which coupleth the second.

Analysis

Fifty loops on the edge of the outermost curtain in each set—the same coupling method as the inner linen curtains. The repetition of pattern (loops and clasps) from inner to outer coverings shows that God's design principles remain consistent at every level. Whether the beautiful inner linen or the utilitarian outer goats' hair, the same method of unification applies—God's Spirit creates unity in diverse elements.

Historical Context

The identical coupling method for both curtain types simplified construction and maintenance. The loops' placement required the same precision as the inner curtains, demonstrating that even 'outer' elements demand careful attention to God's specifications.

Study Questions

1. How does God use consistent principles to unify diverse elements in His church?
2. Why do even 'utilitarian' aspects of worship require attention to divine specifications?
