

Exodus 27:21

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

In the tabernacle of the congregation without the vail, which is before the testimony, Aaron and his sons shall order it from evening to morning before the LORD: it shall be a statute for ever unto their generations on the behalf of the children of Israel.

Analysis

Aaron and his sons shall order the lamps from evening to morning before the Lord continually—a statute forever. Priestly duty involves tending God's light, maintaining it through the night. Darkness surrounds (evening to morning), but the light must persist. This prefigures Christ our High Priest who maintains light through history's 'night' until the daybreak. It also speaks to believers' priestly responsibility—tend the light, don't let it dim, maintain witness through darkness until dawn.

Historical Context

The daily lamp service occurred twice—evening (kindling) and morning (trimming, replenishing). This perpetual maintenance ensured the Holy Place never sat in darkness. Neglecting this duty would extinguish God's light, making priestly service impossible.
