

Exodus 30:17

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And the LORD spake unto Moses, saying,

Analysis

The bronze laver for washing hands and feet represents ongoing sanctification—priests must wash before serving or die. Initial consecration washing (ch 29) cleansed once; laver washing cleanses continually for service. This prefigures the difference between justification (initial cleansing) and sanctification (ongoing cleansing). Christ provides both—His blood justifies once for all; His word sanctifies daily (John 13:10, 15:3, Ephesians 5:26).

Historical Context

The bronze laver stood between the altar and tabernacle entrance, reminding priests that service requires both sacrifice and cleansing. The bronze construction (from women's mirrors, Exodus 38:8) symbolized judgment/self-examination.

Related Passages

Romans 2:1 — Judging others

Matthew 25:31 — Final judgment

Study Questions

1. How does Christ provide both initial cleansing (justification) and daily cleansing (sanctification)?
2. What 'hands and feet' (work and walk) need daily washing in your life?

Interlinear Text

לֹאמֶר: מֹשֶׁה יְהוָה אֱלֹהִים ר

spake And the LORD

H1696

H3068

אֱלֹהִים

H413

unto Moses

H4872

לֹאמֶר: מֹשֶׁה יְהוָה אֱלֹהִים ר

saying

H559

From KJV Study • kjvstudy.org