

Exodus 35:21

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And they came, every one whose heart stirred him up, and every one whom his spirit made willing, and they brought the LORD'S offering to the work of the tabernacle of the congregation, and for all his service, and for the holy garments.

Analysis

Moses concludes the list of needed items, having comprehensively detailed everything from the grandest (ark, menorah) to the most practical (pins, cords). This thoroughness demonstrates that God cares about every aspect of His dwelling —nothing is too small for His attention, and nothing should be omitted or improvised. The phrase 'all that the LORD hath commanded' emphasizes that tabernacle construction must follow divine pattern precisely (25:9, 40), anticipating Hebrews 8:5's warning about following the heavenly pattern exactly.

Historical Context

The complete list spans both furnishings and materials, showing that tabernacle construction would require coordinated effort involving metalworkers, weavers, carvers, and other craftsmen. Every component mentioned in chapters 25-31 is now called for in freewill offerings.

Study Questions

1. What does God's attention to every detail of tabernacle construction teach about His character and His concern for His dwelling place?
2. How does the requirement to follow God's exact pattern challenge contemporary approaches to worship and church structure?
