

Exodus 37:1

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And Bezaleel made the ark of shittim wood: two cubits and a half was the length of it, and a cubit and a half the breadth of it, and a cubit and a half the height of it:

Analysis

Bezaleel personally constructs the ark (אָרֹן, aron)—the most sacred object mentioned first, emphasizing proper priorities. The ark represented God's throne, His presence, and His covenant—the foundation of Israel's worship. Beginning with the ark teaches that constructing God's house must start with God Himself, not peripheral elements. The ark contained the law tablets, showing that God's word is central to His dwelling. Christ is our ark—containing divine truth, our mercy seat (Romans 3:25), the meeting place of God and humanity.

Historical Context

Bezaleel's personal construction of the ark (while delegating other tasks) demonstrates the ark's supreme importance. The ark was Israel's most sacred object, representing God's throne on earth. It would eventually rest in the temple's Most Holy Place (1 Kings 8:6-9).

Study Questions

1. What does beginning tabernacle construction with the ark teach about proper priorities in building God's house?
2. How does the ark, containing God's law and serving as His throne, prefigure Christ as the fulfillment of the law and Lord of all?
