

Exodus 40:3

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And thou shalt put therein the ark of the testimony, and cover the ark with the veil.

Analysis

Moses must place the ark of testimony (ארון הַעֲדֹת, aron ha'edut) and 'cover the ark with the veil' (וְסִכְתָּה עַל־הָאָרוֹן, vesakota al-ha'aron). The ark's primacy—mentioned first despite being placed last/deepest—teaches that God's law (testimony inside) stands central to covenant. The veil 'covering' (סַחְקָה, sakhakh, to screen/protect) the ark separates God's holy presence from sinful people, teaching that sin blocks access. Only the high priest, once yearly with atoning blood, could pass the veil (Leviticus 16). Christ's torn veil-body (Hebrews 10:19-20) opens permanent access.

Historical Context

The ark, containing the Ten Commandments, Aaron's rod, and manna pot (Hebrews 9:4), represented God's throne on earth. Its placement behind the veil in the Most Holy Place emphasized that sinful humans cannot casually approach the holy God—only through prescribed mediation.

Study Questions

---

1. What does the ark's centrality (mentioned first) teach about God's law standing at the covenant's heart?
2. How does Christ's torn veil-body providing permanent access contrast with the old covenant's yearly entry?
