

Ezekiel 16:21

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

That thou hast slain my children, and delivered them to cause them to pass through the fire for them?

Analysis

Thou hast slain my children, and delivered them to cause them to pass through the fire—The Hebrew ma'avar ba'esh (מָעַבֵּר בְּאֵשׁ, to pass through fire) refers to child sacrifice to Molech in the Valley of Hinnom (2 Kings 23:10, Jeremiah 32:35). God claims them as my children—covenant children belonging to YHWH were murdered and delivered (natan, נָתַן, given over) to demons (1 Corinthians 10:20).

This verse exposes the ultimate trajectory of spiritual adultery: when the covenant community abandons God, it eventually sacrifices its own offspring. Psalm 106:37-38 confirms Israelites 'sacrificed their sons and daughters unto devils.' The prophetic parallel to abortion cultures is unavoidable—societies that reject God's lordship ultimately consume their children on the altars of convenience, economic prosperity, or personal autonomy.

Historical Context

Archaeological evidence from Carthage (Phoenician Tophet) and literary references in Diodorus Siculus confirm child sacrifice was practiced in Canaanite religion. In Jerusalem, the Tophet in the Valley of Ben-Hinnom (Gehenna) became synonymous with judgment. Josiah desecrated it (2 Kings 23:10), but practice resumed under wicked kings.
