

Ezekiel 20:14

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

But I wrought for my name's sake, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them out.

Analysis

'But I wrought for my name's sake, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them out.' Again (as in verse 9), God acts for His name's sake despite Israel's rebellion. Moses' intercession (Exodus 32:11-14, Numbers 14:13-19) appealed to this principle—what would the nations think if God destroyed Israel after delivering them? God's reputation motivates His covenant faithfulness even when His people are unfaithful.

Historical Context

Throughout Israel's history, God's actions vindicated His name among nations. The exodus demonstrated His power; preserving Israel despite rebellion demonstrated His covenant faithfulness; the exile demonstrated His justice; and restoration demonstrated His mercy. All served to reveal His character to the world.
