

Ezekiel 3:12

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Then the spirit took me up, and I heard behind me a voice of a great rushing, saying, Blessed be the glory of the LORD from his place.

Analysis

"Then the spirit took me up, and I heard behind me a voice of a great rushing, saying, Blessed be the glory of the LORD from his place." The Spirit's transport and the chorus praising God's glory indicate heavenly worship continuing perpetually. Earth's rebellion doesn't diminish heaven's adoration. While Israel rejected God, angels worshiped unceasingly. This provides perspective during discouraging ministry: God's glory remains intact regardless of human response. The phrase "from his place" emphasizes God's transcendent stability—He remains gloriously enthroned despite earthly chaos.

Historical Context

After commissioning (593 BC), Ezekiel heard heavenly worship continuing despite Israel's rebellion. This parallels Isaiah's vision of seraphim crying "Holy, holy, holy" while Judah sank in corruption (Isaiah 6:3). The contrast between earthly rebellion and heavenly worship sustained faithful prophets. God's throne remains stable; His worship continues; His glory shines undiminished. This eternal reality provides courage during temporal opposition. The heavenly perspective corrects earthly myopia.
