

Ezekiel 32:7

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And when I shall put thee out, I will cover the heaven, and make the stars thereof dark; I will cover the sun with a cloud, and the moon shall not give her light.

Analysis

Cosmic darkening imagery—sun covered, moon darkened, stars veiled—represents judgment affecting heaven and earth. This apocalyptic language appears throughout Scripture (Isaiah 13:10, Joel 2:10, Matthew 24:29) for catastrophic divine intervention. Egypt's fall would seem like world-ending cataclysm to those affected, revealing judgment's comprehensive impact.

Historical Context

Ancient peoples interpreted astronomical phenomena as divine signs. This prophecy used cosmic imagery to emphasize that Egypt's fall represented divine judgment, not mere political change. It was a God-ordained historical earthquake.

Study Questions

1. How should awareness of ultimate cosmic judgment (Christ's return) affect present priorities?

2. What does apocalyptic imagery reveal about the seriousness of sin and judgment in God's perspective?
