

Ezekiel 34:29

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And I will raise up for them a plant of renown, and they shall be no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither bear the shame of the heathen any more.

Analysis

"And I will raise up for them a plant of renown, and they shall be no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither bear the shame of the heathen any more." The "plant of renown" (Hebrew netza le-shem, נֶצַח לְשֵׁם) refers to the Messiah—the Branch from David's line. Isaiah similarly uses plant imagery for Messiah: "a root out of dry ground" (Isaiah 53:2) and "the Branch" (Isaiah 11:1). Christ provides what human leaders cannot: comprehensive provision and vindication of God's honor. The promise of ending shame indicates restoration of dignity and reputation. Salvation includes not just forgiveness but honor.

Historical Context

The exile (586 BC) brought physical hunger and national shame—God's people scattered, mocked, and reduced to begging. The "plant of renown" promised reversal through Messianic intervention. Christ fulfilled this: feeding multitudes physically and spiritually, vindicating God's honor through perfect obedience and atoning death. The church experiences this: spiritual nourishment through Christ and honor as God's children (1 John 3:1). Complete fulfillment awaits new creation where hunger and shame cease entirely.
