

Ezekiel 45:3

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of five and twenty thousand, and the breadth of ten thousand: and in it shall be the sanctuary and the most holy place.

Analysis

The measured portion (25,000 x 10,000) contained both sanctuary and priests' dwelling. Those who served God's house lived on sacred land, supported by consecrated resources. This teaches that ministry support comes from God's provision through His people's worship. Those who serve the altar share in the altar (1 Corinthians 9:13-14).

Historical Context

Levitical cities (Numbers 35) similarly provided for priests and Levites through dedicated land allocations. This vision expands the concept, ensuring adequate provision for those serving God's house.
