

Ezra 2:70

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

So the priests, and the Levites, and some of the people, and the singers, and the porters, and the Nethinims, dwelt in their cities, and all Israel in their cities.

Analysis

The settling: 'So the priests, and the Levites, and some of the people, and the singers, and the porters, and the Nethinims, dwelt in their cities, and all Israel in their cities.' The comprehensive list shows all categories of returnees established themselves in ancestral territories. The phrase 'all Israel in their cities' emphasizes completeness—despite only two tribes numerically significant, they maintained all-Israel identity. The settlement in specific cities restored covenant land inheritance.

Historical Context

The scattering throughout Judah's various cities restored ancient tribal patterns despite seventy years interruption. Each group settling 'in their cities' involved claiming ancestral properties, rebuilding homes, and reestablishing agriculture. Archaeological evidence shows numerous sites in Judah were reoccupied in Persian period after abandonment. The distribution throughout the land rather than concentrating in Jerusalem enabled agricultural self-sufficiency and territorial possession. The comprehensive list shows all needed vocations—priests, singers, gatekeepers—settled appropriately.
