

Ezra 6:22

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And kept the feast of unleavened bread seven days with joy:
for the LORD had made them joyful, and turned the heart of the king of Assyria unto them, to strengthen their hands in the work of the house of God, the God of Israel.

Analysis

And kept the feast of unleavened bread seven days with joy—חג המצות (chag hamatzot, feast of unleavened bread) commemorates the Exodus deliverance (Exodus 12:15-20). The שמחה (simchah, joy) marks a profound emotional shift from the weeping at the temple foundation (3:12-13) to exuberant celebration at its completion. This seven-day observance following Passover signified the community's full restoration to covenant worship patterns established in the Mosaic law.

For the LORD had made them joyful, and turned the heart of the king of Assyria unto them—the phrase 'king of Assyria' referring to the Persian king Darius is historically jarring (Assyria had fallen in 609 BC), but reflects either popular usage for any Mesopotamian monarch or theological irony: the empire that once destroyed Israel now funds its restoration. The הסיב (hesiv, turned) is divine causation—God sovereignly influences pagan rulers to accomplish His covenant purposes, echoing Proverbs 21:1. To strengthen their hands in the work of the house of God—חזקו (chizzeq, strengthen) appears throughout Ezra-Nehemiah for divine and human encouragement in temple-building (Ezra 1:6, 6:22, Nehemiah 2:18, 6:9).

Historical Context

The temple dedication occurred in 515 BC, seventy years after its destruction (586 BC), fulfilling Jeremiah's prophecy (Jeremiah 25:11-12, 29:10). Persian King Darius I had not only permitted the work to continue (6:1-12) but funded it from royal treasury and threatened severe punishment for any who hindered it (6:8-11). This astonishing imperial support vindicated the prophets Haggai and Zechariah who urged the discouraged returnees to resume building (Ezra 5:1-2).

Study Questions

1. How does God's sovereign control over pagan rulers (Darius) encourage believers facing hostile political environments?
2. What does the transformation from weeping (3:12-13) to joy (6:22) teach about God's faithfulness through discouragement to completion?
3. In what ways should completed gospel work result in communal celebration similar to Israel's feast observance?
