

Galatians 5:10

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

I have confidence in you through the Lord, that ye will be none otherwise minded: but he that troubleth you shall bear his judgment, whosoever he be.

Analysis

I have confidence in you through the Lord, that ye will be none otherwise minded: but he that troubleth you shall bear his judgment, whosoever he be. Despite rebuke, Paul expresses hope. "I have confidence in you" (egō pepoitha eis hymas, ἐγὼ πέποιθα εἰς ὑμᾶς)—I trust, have confidence regarding you. Perfect tense indicates settled confidence. "Through the Lord" (en kyriō, ἐν κυρίῳ)—in the Lord, grounded in the Lord's power, not their inherent stability. Paul's confidence rests on God's ability to preserve them, not their strength.

"That ye will be none otherwise minded" (hoti ouden allo phronēsete)—that you'll think nothing different, won't adopt contrary views. He trusts they'll reject the Judaizers. "But he that troubleth you" (ho de tarassōn hymas, ὁ δὲ ταρασσὼν ὑμᾶς)—the one disturbing, unsettling you. "Shall bear his judgment" (bastasei to krima, βαστάσει τὸ κρίμα)—will carry, bear God's judgment. "Whosoever he be" (hostis ean ē)—whoever he is, regardless of status or authority. Even if an apostle preached contrary gospel, he'd be accursed (1:8-9). False teachers face severe divine judgment for perverting the gospel and destroying souls.

Historical Context

Paul balances pastoral hope with prophetic warning. He believes the Galatians will ultimately return to sound doctrine, but pronounces judgment on the false teachers leading them astray. Teachers bear greater accountability (James 3:1).

Those who corrupt the gospel—the most precious truth—face devastating judgment. This warns against treating doctrinal error lightly or tolerating false teachers in the name of niceness or tolerance. Love for truth and souls requires confronting and excluding those who pervert the gospel.

Study Questions

1. Paul has confidence that the Galatians will reject the false teachers—do you have similar confidence in your church to discern and reject error?
2. The troubler 'shall bear his judgment, whosoever he be'—why does Paul emphasize that even influential false teachers face God's judgment?
3. When should the church show patience toward confused believers versus severity toward those deliberately perverting the gospel?
