

Hebrews 1:14

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Are they not all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister for them who shall be heirs of salvation?

Analysis

Angels are described as 'leitourgika pneumata' (ministering spirits), emphasizing their service role. The phrase 'those who will inherit salvation' uses the present participle 'mellontas,' indicating future certainty. This affirms the Reformed doctrine of preservation of the saints - those being saved will certainly inherit salvation. Angels serve the elect, not vice versa, demolishing any angel worship (cf. Colossians 2:18).

Historical Context

Jewish tradition highly venerated angels, sometimes excessively. The author corrects this by subordinating angels to both Christ and redeemed humanity, whom they serve. This would have been countercultural in a context where angels were often invoked as mediators.
