

Hebrews 2:14

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil;

Analysis

The incarnation's purpose is stated: to destroy (Greek 'katargēsē' - render powerless) death's master, the devil. Christ 'partook of' (Greek 'meteschē') flesh and blood, emphasizing full humanity. The Reformed doctrine of Christ's active obedience requires genuine humanity - He had to be truly human to obey as our representative. His death defeated Satan not by force but by accomplishing redemption, removing Satan's legal grounds to accuse (Colossians 2:14-15).

Historical Context

Jewish thought in the Second Temple period associated Satan with death based on Wisdom 2:24. The author draws on this tradition while presenting Christ's death as the means of Satan's defeat, paradoxically using death to destroy death.
