

Hebrews 4:7

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Again, he limiteth a certain day, saying in David, To day, after so long a time; as it is said, To day if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts.

Analysis

God 'again fixes a certain day' through David's psalm (Psalm 95), written centuries after Joshua. The word 'today' maintains urgency across generations. This demonstrates Scripture's timeless relevance and the Holy Spirit's present-tense address through ancient texts. Reformed hermeneutics affirms the historical meaning while recognizing the Spirit's ongoing application to contemporary readers.

Historical Context

Psalm 95 was written c. 1000 BC, about 400 years after the wilderness rebellion. Yet it speaks of 'today,' showing the warning remained relevant. The author applies it again in the first century, and it remains relevant now.
