

Isaiah 1:11

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

To what purpose is the multitude of your sacrifices unto me? saith the LORD: I am full of the burnt offerings of rams, and the fat of fed beasts; and I delight not in the blood of bullocks, or of lambs, or of he goats.

Analysis

God's rhetorical question demolishes empty ritualism. The multiplication of sacrifices without heart obedience repulses rather than pleases God. The Hebrew 'hefets' (delight) indicates God's positive pleasure is absent when worship divorced from obedience continues. This anticipates Samuel's principle: 'to obey is better than sacrifice' (1 Samuel 15:22) and Jesus's critique of Pharisaic religion.

Historical Context

Despite approaching apostasy, eighth-century Judah maintained elaborate temple worship. Isaiah exposes this cognitive dissonance—correct ritual without covenant faithfulness is an abomination to God.

Study Questions

1. Are you substituting religious activity for authentic obedience in any area of your life?
2. How does this passage challenge contemporary worship practices that emphasize form over transformed hearts?
