

Isaiah 11:15

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And the LORD shall utterly destroy the tongue of the Egyptian sea; and with his mighty wind shall he shake his hand over the river, and shall smite it in the seven streams, and make men go over dryshod.

Analysis

God will enable return from exile using imagery from the Exodus. 'Utterly destroy the tongue of the Egyptian sea' and 'shake his hand over the river' recall Red Sea parting and Jordan River crossing. The 'seven streams' suggests making the Euphrates (barrier to return from Babylon) easily crossable. This promises a new exodus—God will remove barriers enabling His people's return. The new exodus ultimately refers to Christ's deliverance from sin and death, greater than physical exile.

Historical Context

Partially fulfilled when Persia allowed Jews to return from Babylon (538 BC onward). More fully fulfilled in Christ's deliverance from sin's slavery—the ultimate exodus. Jesus's death and resurrection accomplished the new exodus (Luke 9:31, where 'decease' is literally 'exodus' in Greek). The barriers sin erected between humanity and God were removed, enabling return to fellowship. The new covenant surpasses the old as the new exodus surpasses the original.

Study Questions

1. How does the new exodus in Christ exceed the original exodus from Egypt?
2. What barriers has Christ removed to enable our return to God?
3. How does remembering God's past deliverances strengthen faith for present challenges?
