

Isaiah 14:20

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Thou shalt not be joined with them in burial, because thou hast destroyed thy land, and slain thy people: the seed of evildoers shall never be renowned.

Analysis

'Thou shalt not be joined with them in burial, because thou hast destroyed thy land, and slain thy people: the seed of evildoers shall never be renowned.' The reason for dishonorable burial: crimes against his own land and people. Unlike foreign conquest (which was expected), this king destroyed his own territory and killed his own people—perhaps through oppressive policies, internal purges, or reckless wars. 'Thou shalt not be joined with them'—even denied common burial with other kings (v.18). The final sentence is principle and prophecy: 'the seed of evildoers shall never be renowned'—wicked rulers' descendants lose renown, are forgotten, cut off. No dynasty, no legacy, no honor—complete erasure.

Historical Context

Some Babylonian kings did oppress their own people—Nabonidus alienated the Babylonian priesthood and people by favoring the moon god over Marduk, contributing to Babylon's fall. More broadly, tyrannical rulers throughout history sacrifice their own people's welfare for personal glory or power. The principle that evildoers' seed loses renown has repeated fulfillment—how many ancient dynasties are lost to history, their names forgotten? Yet God's promise to David (2 Samuel 7:16) stands eternal. The contrast: wicked dynasties vanish; the Messianic line endures forever. Christ is the eternal 'seed' (Galatians 3:16) whose renown never fades.

Study Questions

1. How does the loss of renown for evildoers' descendants demonstrate that lasting legacy comes through righteousness, not power?
2. What does the contrast between forgotten wicked dynasties and Christ's eternal kingdom teach about true greatness?
