

Isaiah 16:6

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

We have heard of the pride of Moab; he is very proud: even of his haughtiness, and his pride, and his wrath: but his lies shall not be so.

Analysis

"We have heard of the pride of Moab; he is very proud: even of his haughtiness, and his pride, and his wrath: but his lies shall not be so." The fivefold emphasis on pride hammers home Moab's fundamental sin. Not just proud, but "very proud," characterized by haughtiness, arrogance, and wrathful insolence. "His lies shall not be so" indicates Moab's boasts are empty—claims to power, security, self-sufficiency are false. Pride invariably precedes judgment (Proverbs 16:18). Reformed theology identifies pride as the root sin—humanity's rejection of God's sovereignty and grasping for autonomy.

Historical Context

The Mesha Stele (c. 840 BCE) discovered at Dibon perfectly illustrates Moabite pride. King Mesha boasts: "I am Mesha, king of Moab...Omri, king of Israel, humbled Moab many years...But I have triumphed over him and over his house, while Israel has perished forever!" This stone inscription intended to eternalize Moab's glory ironically survived to witness Moab's destruction—"his lies shall not be so" proven true.
