

Isaiah 2:12

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

For the day of the LORD of hosts shall be upon every one that is proud and lofty, and upon every one that is lifted up; and he shall be brought low:

Analysis

The phrase 'day of the LORD of hosts' describes the climactic intervention when God directly judges proud humanity. Four characteristics of proud humans will be targeted: pride, loftiness, haughtiness, and being lifted up. This comprehensive catalog emphasizes that every form of human exaltation opposes God's glory and will be judged. The Hebrew repetition intensifies the certainty of this humbling.

Historical Context

Ancient Near Eastern cultures valued honor and status. Isaiah's prophecy that all human glory would be stripped away challenged fundamental cultural values, declaring God's glory supreme over human achievement.
