

Isaiah 2:19

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And they shall go into the holes of the rocks, and into the caves of the earth, for fear of the LORD, and for the glory of his majesty, when he ariseth to shake terribly the earth.

Analysis

Terrified humanity hides in caves and holes from God's majestic arising—reversing Eden where Adam hid from God's presence (Genesis 3:8). The 'terror of the LORD' and 'glory of his majesty' describe theophanic judgment when God manifests His presence to 'shake terribly the earth.' This anticipates Revelation 6:15-17 where earth-dwellers cry for rocks to hide them from the Lamb's wrath. The futility of hiding from omnipresent deity (Psalm 139:7-12) underscores that only refuge in Christ, not from Him, provides safety.

Historical Context

Judah's mountainous terrain offered caves for hiding (1 Samuel 13:6), but physical concealment can't evade divine judgment. The imagery warns that no earthly refuge exists apart from covenant relationship.

1. What spiritual 'caves' do we seek when avoiding God's convicting presence?
2. How does Christ transform God's terrifying majesty into approachable grace for believers?
