

Isaiah 38:16

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

O Lord, by these things men live, and in all these things is the life of my spirit: so wilt thou recover me, and make me to live.

Analysis

The declaration "O Lord, by these things men live" recognizes that life itself depends on God's sustaining power, not merely physical processes. The phrase "in all these things is the life of my spirit" shows that spiritual vitality comes from the same source as physical life. The prayer "so wilt thou recover me, and make me to live" asks for comprehensive restoration—both body and spirit. This holistic view sees physical health and spiritual life as interconnected, both flowing from God.

Historical Context

Hebrew thought didn't sharply distinguish physical and spiritual realms. Life was unified, with God as source of all vitality and wellbeing.
