

Isaiah 38:19

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

The living, the living, he shall praise thee, as I do this day: the father to the children shall make known thy truth.

Analysis

The contrast "The living, the living, he shall praise thee" emphasizes that worship is the privilege and responsibility of those alive. "As I do this day" makes it personal and immediate—Hezekiah fulfills this duty through his testimony. "The father to the children shall make known thy truth" establishes intergenerational responsibility—those who experience God's faithfulness must teach the next generation. This demonstrates that testimony isn't optional but obligatory—experiencing deliverance creates duty to declare it.

Historical Context

Intergenerational faith transmission was central to Israelite identity (Deuteronomy 6:7). Parents teaching children God's works preserved covenant faith across generations.
