

Isaiah 4:1

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And in that day seven women shall take hold of one man, saying, We will eat our own bread, and wear our own apparel:
only let us be called by thy name, to take away our reproach.

Analysis

The desperation of seven women seeking one man reverses typical marriage patterns, illustrating the devastating male population loss from war (3:25). Their offer to provide their own sustenance ('eat our own bread...wear our own apparel') and merely seek to remove reproach shows cultural stigma of childlessness. This depicts covenant curse outworking (Deuteronomy 28:30, 62), yet also transitions to restoration hope (4:2-6) as the purified remnant emerges from judgment.

Historical Context

Ancient Near Eastern culture valued progeny highly; childlessness brought shame. The numerical disproportion (seven to one) reflects catastrophic military losses leaving few marriageable men.
