

Isaiah 40:5

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And the glory of the LORD shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the LORD hath spoken it.

Analysis

The revelation of God's glory ('kavod' in Hebrew, denoting weighty significance and splendor) is central to redemptive history. The universal scope—'all flesh shall see it together'—points beyond Israel's restoration to the gospel's worldwide proclamation. God's spoken word guarantees this certainty, for His promises cannot fail.

Historical Context

This prophecy anticipated both the return from exile and ultimately the incarnation, when 'the Word became flesh and dwelt among us, and we beheld His glory' (John 1:14).

Related Passages

1 John 4:8 — God is love

John 15:13 — Greatest form of love

Study Questions

1. How have you personally witnessed God's glory revealed in your life?

2. What does it mean that God's glory will be revealed to all nations, not just Israel?
