

Isaiah 40:6

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

The voice said, Cry. And he said, What shall I cry? All flesh is grass, and all the goodliness thereof is as the flower of the field:

Analysis

This verse contrasts human frailty ('basar,' flesh) with divine eternity. The Hebrew 'chesed' (translated as 'goodliness') refers to covenant loyalty and beauty, yet even humanity's finest qualities wither like grass. This sobering truth humbles human pride and drives us to seek lasting value in God alone.

Historical Context

Peter quotes this passage (1 Peter 1:24-25) to emphasize the eternal nature of God's word versus human mortality, encouraging believers facing persecution to trust in imperishable truth.

Study Questions

1. How does recognizing your mortality shape your priorities and pursuits?
2. In what ways are you tempted to trust in fading human strength rather than eternal God?
