

Isaiah 41:15

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Behold, I will make thee a new sharp threshing instrument having teeth: thou shalt thresh the mountains, and beat them small, and shalt make the hills as chaff.

Analysis

God transforms the worm into a threshing instrument ('morag chadash'—new sharp threshing sledge) with teeth, able to thresh mountains and beat hills to chaff. This dramatic reversal shows God's power to take the weakest and make them instruments of His purposes. The 'newness' suggests fresh empowerment, not human strength.

Historical Context

This promised Israel would not remain helpless victims but would, through God's empowerment, overcome obstacles that seemed as immovable as mountains—returning to rebuild despite opposition.
