

Isaiah 41:5

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

The isles saw it, and feared; the ends of the earth were afraid, drew near, and came.

Analysis

The nations' fear response to Cyrus's God-ordained rise is both appropriate (recognizing divine action) and inadequate (leading to idol-making, verse 7, rather than repentance). The Hebrew 'yare' (feared) and 'charad' (trembled) indicate terror before manifest divine power. The 'ends of the earth' emphasizes universal awareness of God's work.

Historical Context

As news of Cyrus's conquests spread, nations recognized something unprecedented was happening, yet most responded by strengthening their false gods rather than turning to the true God.

Study Questions

---

1. How do people today respond to God's evident works with renewed idolatry rather than repentance?

2. What does it mean to respond to God's power with proper fear that leads to worship, not just terror?
