

Isaiah 41:6

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

They helped every one his neighbour; and every one said to his brother, Be of good courage.

Analysis

In crisis, nations turn to mutual encouragement ('they helped every one his neighbour') and strengthening each other's hands—but in idolatry! The Hebrew 'chazaq' (be strong) should lead to trust in God, but here produces collaboration in folly. Human solidarity in rebellion against God appears supportive but leads to shared destruction.

Historical Context

This describes the coalitions formed against Persian expansion, with nations banding together for defense while simultaneously intensifying their religious devotion to false gods for supernatural aid.
