

Isaiah 52:11

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Depart ye, depart ye, go ye out from thence, touch no unclean thing; go ye out of the midst of her; be ye clean, that bear the vessels of the LORD.

Analysis

The urgent command 'Depart ye, depart ye, go ye out from thence, touch no unclean thing' calls for complete separation from Babylon. The dual command to 'be ye clean, that bear the vessels of the LORD' emphasizes holiness for those serving God. This anticipates 2 Corinthians 6:17 ('come out from among them, and be ye separate') - gospel demands leaving worldly system to serve holy God.

Historical Context

Some exiles preferred comfortable Babylon to difficult return journey - this command demanded choice. Those carrying temple vessels home must be ceremonially pure. Spiritually, believers must separate from world's defilement to properly represent Christ.

Study Questions

1. What aspects of 'Babylon' (worldly system) do you need to decisively 'depart from' to maintain spiritual purity?
2. How does your role as 'bearer of the LORD's vessels' (His representative) demand greater holiness than cultural standards?
