

James 1:23

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

For if any be a hearer of the word, and not a doer, he is like unto a man beholding his natural face in a glass:

Analysis

---

For if any be a hearer of the word, and not a doer, he is like unto a man beholding his natural face in a glass: The hearer-only is likened to a man observing (katanooounti, κατανοοῦντι) his natural face in a mirror. Mirrors in antiquity were polished metal, requiring careful attention. James shows that Scripture reveals identity, yet a mere glance accomplishes nothing.

The metaphor underscores the transformative intent of the Word: its reflection demands response. Reformed believers understand Scripture as means of grace; negligent hearing wastes the mirror that God provides to conform us to Christ.

Historical Context

---

Jewish wisdom literature also used mirror imagery (Sirach 12:11). James adapts it for Christian congregations accustomed to synagogue readings. Paul's use of mirror imagery in 2 Corinthians 3:18 parallels this, showing apostolic harmony.

In diaspora settings, where believers often met in humble homes without ornate decor, the idea of a traveler glancing at a bronze mirror before leaving would resonate strongly.

Related Passages

---

Romans 2:1 — Judging others

Study Questions

---

1. What recent Scripture reflection exposed something you were tempted to ignore?
2. How can you slow down to look intently into God's mirror?
3. Who can help you remember and respond to what Scripture reveals?

Interlinear Text

---

ὅτι εἷ τις ἀκροατῆς λόγου ἐστὶν καὶ οὐ ποιητής
For G1487 G5100 a hearer G202 of the word G3056 be G2076 and G2532 not G3756 a doer G4163
G3754

οὗτος ἔοικεν ἀνδρὶ κατανοοῦντι τὸ πρόσωπον τῆς
he G3778 is like G1503 unto a man G435 beholding G2657 G3588 face G4383 G3588
G1078

γενέσεως αὐτοῦ ἐν ἐσόπτρῳ· natural G1078 G846 in G1722 a glass G2072

Additional Cross-References

---

Luke 6:47 (Parallel theme): Whosoever cometh to me, and heareth my sayings, and doeth them, I will shew you to whom he is like:

Jeremiah 44:16 (Word): As for the word that thou hast spoken unto us in the name of the LORD, we will not hearken unto thee.

Luke 6:7 (Parallel theme): And the scribes and Pharisees watched him, whether he would heal on the sabbath day; that they might find an accusation against him.