

James 3:9

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Therewith bless we God, even the Father; and therewith curse we men, which are made after the similitude of God.

Analysis

Therewith bless we God, even the Father; and therewith curse we men, which are made after the similitude of God. With the tongue we bless (eulogoumen, εὐλογοῦμεν) our Lord and Father and curse (katarōmetha, καταρώμεθα) people made in God's likeness (homoiōsin, ὁμοίωσιν). Such inconsistency violates the imago Dei and true worship.

Reformed theology cherishes the image of God doctrine; to curse image-bearers while praising God is hypocrisy. Speech reveals theology—do we honor the Creator by honoring His image?

Historical Context

Jewish liturgies included blessings of God; James's audience likely recited them while harboring prejudice. Persecution might tempt them to curse opponents. James ties ethics to doctrine: honoring God demands honoring humans.",
