

James 4:15

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

For that ye ought to say, If the Lord will, we shall live, and do this, or that.

Analysis

For that ye ought to say, If the Lord will, we shall live, and do this, or that. Instead you ought to say, "If the Lord wills (ean ho Kyrios thelē, ἐάν ὁ Κύριος θέλῃ), we will live and do this or that." Incorporating "Lord willing" is not cliché but a heart posture acknowledging providence.

Reformed believers often use DV (Deo volente) as expression of James 4:15, submitting plans to God's sovereign will.

Historical Context

Jewish tradition used phrases like "If God wills"; James renews the habit for Christian merchants. The early church embraced this language to express dependence amid uncertainty.
