

Jeremiah 10:16

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

The portion of Jacob is not like them: for he is the former of all things; and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: The LORD of hosts is his name.

Analysis

This verse celebrates Jacob's God: 'The portion of Jacob is not like them.' Jacob's 'portion' (cheleq, חֵלֶק) is his inheritance, his God—completely unlike worthless idols. 'For he is the former of all things.' yotser (יוצֵר, potter, former) describes God as cosmic craftsman who formed everything. Unlike human craftsmen making idols, the divine Potter formed the universe. 'And Israel is the rod of his inheritance.' The relationship is reciprocal: God is Israel's portion; Israel is God's inheritance (nachalah). 'The LORD of hosts is his name.' The divine title YHWH Tseva'oth (Lord of armies/hosts) emphasizes military sovereignty over all powers, earthly and heavenly.

Historical Context

The concept of God as 'portion' appears in Psalm 16:5, 73:26, 119:57, 142:5, and Lamentations 3:24. During exile, when Israel lost land, temple, and political identity, their 'portion' remained—God Himself was their inheritance when all else was stripped away. This theology of divine sufficiency sustained exilic faith.

Study Questions

1. What does it mean for God to be our 'portion' when external supports are removed?
2. How does the mutual inheritance—God is Israel's portion, Israel is God's inheritance—describe covenant relationship?
