

Jeremiah 12:14

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Thus saith the LORD against all mine evil neighbours, that touch the inheritance which I have caused my people Israel to inherit; Behold, I will pluck them out of their land, and pluck out the house of Judah from among them.

Analysis

This verse transitions to promise: 'Thus saith the LORD against all mine evil neighbours, that touch the inheritance which I have caused my people Israel to inherit.' The 'evil neighbours' (shechenim hara'im) are surrounding nations who participated in Judah's destruction—Edom, Moab, Ammon, Philistia. 'Touch the inheritance' (noge'im banachalah) indicates violating Israel's God-given land. 'Behold, I will pluck them out of their land, and pluck out the house of Judah from among them.' The Hebrew natash (שָׁחַט, uproot, pluck out) applies to both neighbors (judgment) and Judah (restoration). Exile will separate Judah from her enemies, ultimately for restoration.

Historical Context

Nations surrounding Judah took advantage of Babylon's invasion to seize territory and loot (Ezekiel 25, 35; Obadiah; Amos 1:3-2:3). Edom was particularly aggressive (Psalm 137:7, Lamentations 4:21-22). God promises judgment on these opportunistic 'neighbors' and eventual restoration of Judah. Both judgments were fulfilled: surrounding nations were conquered by Babylon, then Persia; Judah returned from exile under Cyrus's decree.

Study Questions

1. How does judgment on nations who 'touched' God's inheritance demonstrate His continued commitment to Israel?
2. What does 'plucking out' both enemies and Judah suggest about God's comprehensive sovereignty?
