

Jeremiah 16:17

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

For mine eyes are upon all their ways: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquity hid from mine eyes.

Analysis

Shift in focus: 'Behold, I will send for many fishers, saith the LORD, and they shall fish them; and after will I send for many hunters, and they shall hunt them from every mountain, and from every hill, and out of the holes of the rocks.' Before restoration (v. 15), comes thorough judgment. The 'fishers' and 'hunters' represent agents of judgment (likely Babylonian forces) who will comprehensively seek out Judeans. No hiding place ('every mountain,' 'every hill,' 'holes of the rocks') will provide refuge. This demonstrates judgment's thoroughness before mercy. The fishing and hunting imagery suggests both are captured—some more easily (fished), others after pursuit (hunted). God's sovereignty extends to ensuring none escape decreed judgment.

Historical Context

During the Babylonian conquest and subsequent deportations, fugitives who fled to mountains and caves were systematically hunted down and captured or killed (Jeremiah 41-43).
