

Jeremiah 25:37

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And the peaceable habitations are cut down because of the fierce anger of the LORD.

Analysis

And the peaceable habitations are cut down because of the fierce anger of the LORD. The phrase ně'ěləmû ně'ôṭ haššālôm (נָאֲלְמוּ נְאוֹת הַשְּׁלֹמִים, the peaceable habitations are cut down/silenced) describes the destruction of secure, prosperous settlements. The term nā'â (נָאָה, habitation/pasture) continues the pastoral imagery—pleasant fields and safe dwellings destroyed. The cause: mipnê ḥărôn 'āp-YHWH (מִפְנֵי חֲרוֹן אַף־יְהוָה, because of the fierce anger/burning wrath of the LORD).

The phrase ḥărôn 'āp (חֲרוֹן אַף, fierce anger) literally means 'burning of the nose'—a Hebrew idiom for intense anger. This anthropomorphic language depicts God's righteous indignation against persistent sin. The destruction of 'peaceable habitations' demonstrates that apparent peace and prosperity don't indicate God's approval—Judah enjoyed years of relative peace while accumulating guilt. Sudden judgment shattered their false security. Jesus warned the same: 'when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them' (1 Thessalonians 5:3). Outward peace without inward righteousness is temporary and deceptive.

Historical Context

Archaeological evidence shows that many Judean towns and villages were prosperous before Babylon's invasions. Agriculture flourished, trade continued, life seemed normal. Then came sudden catastrophe—cities burned, populations killed or enslaved, the land desolate. The contrast between pre-destruction prosperity and post-destruction desolation emphasized that peace and safety apart from covenant faithfulness is illusory. The 'peaceable habitations' proved vulnerable when God's protective hand was withdrawn.
