

Jeremiah 25:6

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And go not after other gods to serve them, and to worship them, and provoke me not to anger with the works of your hands; and I will do you no hurt.

Analysis

And go not after other gods to serve them, and to worship them, and provoke me not to anger with the works of your hands; and I will do you no hurt. The phrase 'ahārē 'ělōhîm 'ăhērîm (אָחָרֶת אֱלֹהִים אֲחֶרִים, after other gods) describes spiritual adultery—pursuing foreign deities rather than remaining faithful to Yahweh. The verbs lē'ābēdām (לְעָבֹד, to serve) and lēhishtahăwōt lāhem (לְהִשְׁתַּחַווֹת לָהֶם, to worship/bow down to them) indicate comprehensive devotion—both practical service and religious worship directed toward false gods.

The phrase ma'ăshē yēdēkem (מְעַשְׂה יְדֵיכֶם, works of your hands) refers to idols—human-crafted objects elevated to divine status. This is ultimate folly: worshiping what we ourselves made. Isaiah mocked this absurdity—using half a tree for firewood and bowing to the other half as god (Isaiah 44:9-20). The promise 'I will do you no hurt' reveals God's desire: He takes no pleasure in punishing His people but judges only when persistent rebellion leaves no alternative. As Paul wrote, 'God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself' (2 Corinthians 5:19)—His heart seeks restoration, not destruction.

Historical Context

Archaeological discoveries reveal the extent of Judah's idolatry. Excavations have uncovered figurines of Asherah (Canaanite fertility goddess), inscriptions invoking 'Yahweh and his Asherah' (syncretism), and evidence of child sacrifice to Molech in the Valley of Hinnom. Manasseh's reign (697-642 BC) entrenched pagan worship in the temple itself (2 Kings 21:1-18). Though Josiah attempted reform, the people's hearts remained unchanged. They participated in idolatry not from ignorance but deliberate choice, preferring tangible idols to the invisible Yahweh.

Study Questions

1. What 'works of our hands' might we be tempted to worship today—things we create or control rather than the Creator?
2. How does idolatry 'provoke God to anger,' and what does this reveal about the exclusive nature of true worship?
3. In what ways does God's statement 'I will do you no hurt' reveal His heart toward His people, and how should this shape our understanding of divine judgment?
