

Jeremiah 26:15

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

But know ye for certain, that if ye put me to death, ye shall surely bring innocent blood upon yourselves, and upon this city, and upon the inhabitants thereof: for of a truth the LORD hath sent me unto you to speak all these words in your ears.

Analysis

Jeremiah's courageous stand exemplifies prophetic faithfulness - he declares truth despite threats to his life. The phrase 'The LORD sent me' authenticates his message; rejection of God's messenger equals rejection of God Himself. Jeremiah warns that killing him would bring blood guilt upon the city, adding to their sins. This foreshadows Christ's words about Jerusalem killing the prophets (Matt 23:37).

Historical Context

Jeremiah nearly lost his life for this sermon; priests and prophets demanded his death. His deliverance through the intervention of officials and elders who remembered Micah's similar prophecy showed God's providence.
