

Jeremiah 30:11

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

For I am with thee, saith the LORD, to save thee: though I make a full end of all nations whither I have scattered thee, yet will I not make a full end of thee: but I will correct thee in measure, and will not leave thee altogether unpunished.

Analysis

God promises to save Israel though He makes 'a full end of all nations' where they were scattered. The election of Israel serves God's global purposes, but the nations themselves will pass away while Israel endures. Yet God will 'correct thee in measure' - discipline is medicinal, not vindictive. He won't leave them 'altogether unpunished' - grace doesn't eliminate consequences.

Historical Context

This promise sustained Jewish hope through centuries of dispersion and persecution. Despite attempts to annihilate them, God preserves His covenant people.
