

Jeremiah 44:19

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

And when we burned incense to the queen of heaven, and poured out drink offerings unto her, did we make her cakes to worship her, and pour out drink offerings unto her, without our men?

Analysis

Did we make her cakes to worship her...without our men? (הַבִּלְעָדִי אֶנְשֵׁינוּ)—The Hebrew construction is defensive: "Was it apart from our men?" The women shift responsibility to male authorization, claiming they acted with husbands' knowledge (v.15 confirms this). Cakes (כַּוָּאִים, kawwanim) were ritual offerings stamped with the Queen of Heaven's image, part of organized cult worship.

This verse exposes household idolatry's dynamics: women often administered domestic religious rituals, but with patriarchal approval. The argument reveals both genders' culpability—neither can claim innocence by blaming the other. The drink offerings (נִסְאִים, nesakim)—libations poured out—represent comprehensive devotion: baked goods and liquids, domestic labor and agricultural produce, all consecrated to a false deity.

Historical Context

Archaeological evidence from Judah shows numerous female figurines and domestic altars from the 7th-6th centuries BC. The 'Queen of Heaven' (likely Astarte/Ishtar) worship involved household rituals conducted primarily by women but requiring male consent in a patriarchal society. Stamped ritual cakes for deity worship are attested throughout ancient Near Eastern cultures.
