

Jeremiah 50:15

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Shout against her round about: she hath given her hand: her foundations are fallen, her walls are thrown down: for it is the vengeance of the LORD: take vengeance upon her; as she hath done, do unto her.

Analysis

Shout against her round about: she hath given her hand—the war cry signals victory. 'Given her hand' (nathan yad, נָתַן יָד) is an idiom for surrender, submission, making covenant. Babylon capitulates, the siege succeeds. Her foundations are fallen, her walls are thrown down—the massive defensive walls that seemed impregnable are breached. Herodotus described these walls as so wide that chariot races were held atop them. Yet they fall before God's decree.

For it is the vengeance of the LORD: take vengeance upon her; as she hath done, do unto her—God identifies Himself as the agent: this is the vengeance of the LORD (niqmath Yahweh, נִקְמַת יְהָוָה). Naqam (נִקְמָה) means to avenge, to execute justice, to repay. The principle of reciprocal justice follows: 'as she hath done, do unto her' (ka'asher asethah asu lah, כְּאֶשֶׁר עָשְׂתָה אָשַׁעַ). This is lex talionis (law of retaliation) applied to nations—measure for measure. Babylon showed no mercy to conquered peoples; now mercy will not be shown to her. This foreshadows Revelation 18:6: 'Reward her even as she rewarded you, and double unto her double according to her works.'

Historical Context

The conquest of Babylon was surprisingly swift. Daniel 5 describes the city falling in a single night. Archaeological evidence confirms Cyrus's army entered the city with minimal resistance—some sources suggest internal betrayal or that the city's defenses were compromised by diverting the Euphrates. The 'foundations fallen' may refer both to physical walls and to the empire's collapse. Within one generation, Babylon went from world-dominating empire to a Persian province, exactly fulfilling this prophecy of reciprocal judgment.

Study Questions

1. How does the principle 'as she hath done, do unto her' demonstrate God's justice in ensuring oppressors face consequences proportional to their crimes?
2. What does it mean that God identifies this as 'the vengeance of the LORD' rather than merely human warfare?
3. How should we understand divine vengeance in light of New Testament teaching to leave vengeance to God (Romans 12:19)?
