

Jeremiah 6:10

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

To whom shall I speak, and give warning, that they may hear?
behold, their ear is uncircumcised, and they cannot hearken:
behold, the word of the LORD is unto them a reproach; they have no delight in it.

Analysis

Jeremiah's question reveals his prophetic dilemma: he has a message to deliver, but the audience is spiritually incapable of receiving it. The phrase 'their ear is uncircumcised' employs covenant language—just as physical circumcision marked covenant membership, an uncircumcised ear indicates spiritual inability to hear God's word (cf. Acts 7:51). The description of God's word as 'a reproach; they have no delight in it' demonstrates natural hostility to divine truth. This reflects the Reformed doctrine of total depravity: apart from regenerating grace, sinners cannot truly hear and receive God's word with faith and obedience.

Historical Context

Despite Jeremiah's faithful ministry spanning four decades, Judah largely rejected his message. This hardening of hearts parallels Isaiah's commission (Isaiah 6:9-10) and illustrates the spiritual deafness prophets encountered.

Study Questions

1. How does the concept of spiritual hearing differ from merely processing the words of Scripture intellectually?
2. What does this verse teach about the necessity of the Holy Spirit's work in making people receptive to God's word?
3. How should preachers respond when their message is consistently rejected or finds no delight in hearers?
