

Jeremiah 7:20

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Therefore thus saith the Lord GOD; Behold, mine anger and my fury shall be poured out upon this place, upon man, and upon beast, and upon the trees of the field, and upon the fruit of the ground; and it shall burn, and shall not be quenched.

Analysis

The Lord GOD declares He will pour out His anger 'upon this place' (Jerusalem), affecting comprehensively: 'upon man, and upon beast, and upon the trees of the field, and upon the fruit of the ground.' This total judgment extends beyond humans to animals, vegetation, and crops. The final phrase 'it shall burn, and shall not be quenched' uses fire imagery for unstoppable judgment. This cosmic scope of judgment reflects Genesis 3's curse—human sin affects all creation. Romans 8:20-22 explains that creation groans under the curse of human rebellion. Reformed theology sees this as demonstrating sin's far-reaching consequences and God's comprehensive judgment.

Historical Context

The Babylonian conquest devastated not just Jerusalem's population but also agriculture, livestock, and the land itself. Prolonged siege, warfare, and depopulation left the land desolate.
