

Jeremiah 7:34

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Then will I cause to cease from the cities of Judah, and from the streets of Jerusalem, the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride: for the land shall be desolate.

Analysis

The finale of judgment: 'Then will I cause to cease from the cities of Judah, and from the streets of Jerusalem, the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride: for the land shall be desolate.' This catalog of silenced joys ('mirth,' 'gladness,' wedding celebrations) depicts comprehensive desolation. Normal human joy and social life will cease. The wedding imagery is particularly poignant—new beginnings and hope will vanish. The reason: 'the land shall be desolate.' This fulfills covenant curses where joy turns to mourning (Hosea 2:11). Complete reversal of blessing: from celebration to silence, from life to desolation.

Historical Context

The Babylonian exile resulted in Jerusalem's depopulation and Judah's desolation for 70 years (Jeremiah 25:11-12). The silence of abandoned cities fulfilled this prophecy literally.
