

Job 1:10

Authorized King James Version (KJV)

Hast not thou made an hedge about him, and about his house, and about all that he hath on every side? thou hast blessed the work of his hands, and his substance is increased in the land.

Analysis

Satan acknowledges God's protective sovereignty over Job's person, family, and possessions. The Hebrew 'suk' (hedge) implies a thorough, impenetrable barrier. This reveals a profound Reformed truth: believers are preserved not by their own strength but by God's sovereign protection. Satan can only touch God's elect when permission is granted for their ultimate sanctification (Romans 8:28), as with Job and Peter (Luke 22:31-32).

Historical Context

The concept of divine protection hedging the righteous appears throughout Scripture and Ancient Near Eastern literature, but here it uniquely emphasizes God's active, sovereign preservation of His covenant people.
